

springer.com

Cambridge International Science Publishing Ltd (CISP) eBook distribution factsheet

CISP is a publisher who specializes in titles originating primarily from Eastern Europe and Russia where it has been involved for over 30 years. Their research is predominantly in the area of astronomy, chemistry, engineering, applied mathematics, materials science and physics.

www.cisp-publishing.com

All scientific, English books that CISP publishes in 2011/with 2011 copyright year will be part of the appropriate eBook collections. It is estimated that this will be a total 20 titles per CRY. The majority of titles will fit either in the Chemistry and Materials Science or the Physics and Astronomy collections.

- Springer has acquired the exclusive distribution rights for eBooks and print as well.
- Adding the back list titles is still under investigation.

More information on the Cambridge International Science Publishing Ltd. books can be found on their website.