Dear Springer Author,

Welcome to the new Citation Alert which has been installed to keep you informed about where your article has been cited. It is based on your article's DOI (digital object identifier) and CrossRef (crossref.org).

Your article:
[Image of article cover]
[Link to article: Neuropathology of the recessive A673V APP mutation: Alzheimer disease with distinctive features]

Cited by:

You are welcome to choose (from daily to annually) how frequently you would like to receive the email. The current default is a daily alert. To change this setting or to unsubscribe from the Citation Alert just go to MySpringer and manage your alerts.

Thank you again for publishing with us. We look forward to working with you on your next book or journal article.

Best regards,

Springer Author Services