Can We Talk Mediterranean?
Conversations on an Emerging Field in Medieval and Early Modern Studies
B. A. Catlos, University of Colorado Boulder, Boulder, CO, USA; S. Kinoshita, University of California Santa Cruz, Santa Cruz, CA, USA (Eds)

This book provides a systematic framework for the emerging field of Mediterranean studies, collecting essays from scholars of history, literature, religion, and art history that seek a more fluid understanding of "Mediterranean." It emphasizes the interdependence of Mediterranean regions and the rich interaction (both peaceful and bellicose, at sea and on land) between them. [...] Contents

The Politics of Commercial Treaties in the Eighteenth Century
Balance of Power, Balance of Trade
A. Alimento, Università di Pisa Dipartimento di Civiltà e Forme del Sap, Pisa; K. Stapelbroek, Erasmus University Rotterdam Department of Public Administration, Rotterdam, The Netherlands (Eds)

This book is the first study that analyses bilateral commercial treaties as instruments of peace and trade comparatively and over time. The work focuses on commercial treaties as an index of the challenges of eighteenth-century European politics, shaping a new understanding of these challenges and of how they were confronted at the time in theory and diplomatic practice. World Histories of Crime, Culture and Violence

Transnational Histories of the ‘Royal Nation’
M. Banerjee. Presidency University, Kolkata; C. Backerra, University of Mainz; C. Sarti. University of Mainz (Eds)

This book challenges existing accounts of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries in which political developments are explained in terms of the rise of the nation-state. While monarchies are often portrayed as old-fashioned – as things of the past – we argue that modern monarchies have been at the centre of nation-construction in many parts of the world. [...]

Bright Modernity
Color, Commerce, and Consumer Culture
R. L. Blaszczyk. Philadelphia, PA, USA; U. Spiekermann. Göttingen (Eds)

Color is a visible technology that invisibly connects so many puzzling aspects of modern Western consumer societies—research and development, making and selling, predicting fashion trends, and more. Building on Regina Lee Blaszczyk’s go-to history of the “color revolution” in the United States, this book explores further transatlantic and multidisciplinary dimensions of the topic. [...]

Micro-Spatial Histories of Global Labour
C. G. De Vito, University of Leicester School of History, Leicester, UK; A. Gerritsen, University of Warwick Department of History, Coventry, UK (Eds)

This volume suggests a new way of doing global history. Instead of offering a sweeping and generalizing overview of the past, we propose a ‘micro-spatial’ approach, combining micro-history with the concept of space. A focus on primary sources and awareness of the historical discontinuities and unevennesses characterizes the global history that emerges here.

Contents
Preface by Anne Gerritsen and Christian G. De Vito.
2. Moving Hands: Types and Scales of Labour Mobility in the Late Medieval Eastern Mediterranean, 1200-1500 CE by Ekaterini Mitsiou and Johannes Preiser-Kapeller.
3. Catholic Missions and Native Subaltern Workers: Connected Micro-Histories of Labour from India and Brazil, 1545-1560 by Giuseppe Marcocci.
Civilians Under Siege from Sarajevo to Troy

A. Dowdall, University of Manchester, Manchester, UK; J. Horne, Trinity College Dublin, Dublin 2 (Eds)

Sikhism
A. P. Mandair, University of Michigan Asian Languages and Cultures, Ann Arbor, MI, USA (Ed)

This volume describes Sikhism, the youngest member of the Indic religious traditions. It looks at the striking features of this tradition and describes its birth in the fifteenth century and its continual evolution between the sixteenth and late twentieth centuries into an independent formation often described as the "world's fifth largest religion". Over the Human
Post-humanism and the Concept of Animal Epiphany
R. Marchesini, Study Centre of Posthuman Philosophy, Bologna

This book presents a new way to understand human–animal interactions. Offering a profound discussion of topics such as human identity, our relationship with animals and the environment, and our culture, the author channels the vibrant Italian traditions of humanism, materialism, and speculative philosophy. The research presents a dialogue between the humanities and the natural sciences.

Making Communism Hermeneutical
Reading Vattimo and Zabala
S. Mazzini, Humboldt-Universität zu Berlin; O. Glyn-Williams, DePaul University, Chicago, IL, USA (Eds)

This book aims to provide fresh perspectives on Vattimo and Zabala’s groundbreaking foundational text, Hermeneutic Communism, from 2011. The contributors to this collection of essays explore various facets of Vattimo and Zabala’s “anarchic hermeneutics” and “weak communism” in order to investigate the concepts resulting from them, such as “framed democracies,” “armed capitalism” and “conservative [...]”

Gadamer on Tradition - Historical Context and the Limits of Reflection
A. Odenstedt, Luleå University of Technology, Luleå, Sweden

This book discusses Gadamer’s theory of context-dependence. Analytical and partly critical, the book also shows exegetical accuracy in the rendering of Gadamer’s position. It explores the following questions that Gadamer’s theory of context-dependence tries to answer: in what way is thought influenced by and thus dependent on its historical context? [...]

Toward Kantian Cosmopolitanism
L. C. Sanahuja, University of Trento, Trento

This book examines the history of cosmopolitanism from its origins in the ancient world up to its use in Kantian political philosophy. Taking the idea of ‘common property of the land’ as a starting point, the author makes the original case that attention to this concept is needed to properly understand the notion of cosmopolitan citizenship. Rethinking Rural Health Ethics

C. Simpson, Dalhousie University, Halifax, NS, Canada; F. McDonald, Queensland University of Technology, Brisbane, QLD, Australia

This book challenges readers to rethink rural health ethics. Traditional approaches to health ethics are often urban-centric, making implicit assumptions about how values and norms apply in health care practice, and as such may fail to take into account the complexity, depth, richness, and diversity of the rural context. [...]
