About SpringerOpen

Launched in June 2010, SpringerOpen includes our portfolio of over 140 fully open access journals across all disciplines, ranging from highly specialized titles to SpringerPlus, a multi-disciplinary open access journal that covers all areas of science.

In August 2012, due to the growing demand for open access, we expanded our offering to open access books. Published under the SpringerOpen brand they complement our established open access journal portfolio.

Springer's high-level peer-review, publishing and production processes apply for our SpringerOpen journals and books in precisely the same way they do for titles with the subscription-based model, guaranteeing the quality and reliability of the work. Authors retain copyright and because all articles are Creative Commons Attribution (CC BY) licensed they can easily comply with open access mandates.

All SpringerOpen journals and books are included in our Open Access Membership Program with over 450 participating institutions worldwide. Authors at member institutions can publish in any SpringerOpen journal at a reduced rate or even no cost at all, and are entitled to a 15% discount on the publication fee when they publish a SpringerOpen book.
